Welcome and Instructor Information

Welcome to English 1301! In this class, we will approach writing both as a way of thinking and as a way of communicating thought. More specifically, we will use invention to discover what it is possible to say; we will use our drafts to discover more precisely what we want to say and how we want to say it; and we will use our revisions to further develop our thoughts and to make sure they are working for our intended audiences, moving back and forth among these activities as we mold and shape our work.

What's Exciting About This Course

The Department of English helps students find and develop their authentic voices, establish political power, and create social capital. We teach critical thinking, close reading, and analysis. We coach students on the rhetoric of messaging with consideration of purpose and audience. We support them as they craft their own narratives. We turn thoughts into words, ideas into interpretations, ambiguity into translation, and silence into voice.

Departmental Practices and Procedures

Department-Specific Instructor and Student Responsibilities

As your Instructor, it is my responsibility to:

- Provide the grading scale and detailed grading formula explaining how student grades are to be calculated
- Facilitate an effective learning environment through class activities, discussions, and lectures
- Provide a description of any assignments
- Inform students of policies
- Provide the course outline and class calendar that will include a description of assignments
- Arrange to meet with individual students as required

As a student, it is your responsibility to:

- Attend class and participate in class discussions and activities
- Read and comprehend the texts
- Complete the required assignments

- Be aware of and comply with academic honesty policies, including plagiarism, in the HCCS Student Handbook

Program-Specific Student Success Information

As with any three-hour course, expect to spend at least six hours per week outside of class reading and studying the material. I will provide assignments to help you use those six hours per week wisely. Additional time will be required for written assignments. Successful completion of this course requires a combination of reading the textbook, attending class, completing assignments in Eagle Online, and participating in class discussions. There is no short cut for success in this course; it requires reading (and probably re-reading) and studying the material using the course objectives as your guide.

* Instructor's Practices and Procedures

Incomplete Policy

In order to receive a grade of Incomplete ("I"), a student must have completed at least 85% of the work in the course. In all cases, the instructor reserves the right to decline a student's request to receive a grade of Incomplete.

Missed Assignments/Make-Up Policy

When you miss class, you are still responsible for the assignments due that day, announcements I made in Canvas, and information from lectures and class activities. You should read discussions and announcements to catch up, and contact another student in the course to confirm what you missed. Contact this student before you contact me; I will fill in gaps if you have questions after you have made the initial effort to catch up but can't re-teach the whole class via email to every student who has been absent

All absences "count," and you need to find a way to get assignments turned in whether you are present or not. However, if you have a serious, documented emergency, such as having an immediate family member hospitalized or being hospitalized yourself, I will work with you on making up missed work. The opportunity to make up missed work is available on a case-by-case basis and only at my discretion.

Note that students who fail to submit one or more of their essay assignments rarely pass the class.

Academic Integrity

Academic dishonesty will not be tolerated. A student who is academically dishonest is claiming an advantage not available to other students. The instructor is responsible for measuring each student's individual achievements and also for ensuring that all students compete on a level playing field. Thus, in our system, the instructor has teaching, grading, and enforcing roles.

Pleading ignorance of the rules, including improper documentation (MLA, APA, etc....) is no justification for academic dishonesty.

For the purposes of this course, plagiarism includes using another person's words or ideas as your own and/or incorporating them into your own work without quotation marks (if using exact phrasing) or appropriate acknowledgment. Collusion includes any "unauthorized collaboration with your classmates or any other students—present or past—in the completion of work that you claim as your own.

Students who plagiarize, collude, or cheat will not have an opportunity to resubmit their work and they will receive a grade of 0 for the first assignment, an F in the course for a second assignment, and a report in our Maxient system, which could lead to dismissal from the college.

NOTE: Plagiarism can also include the use of a student's prior work in another course and/or school to qualify as an assignment in part for this course. In order to use any pre-existing work, a student MUST receive permission from the instructor in order to resubmit the assignment for this course. Failure to do so will be the equivalent of plagiarism. In other words, all assignments should be original; do not use a paper written in another class for this one. All students are responsible for following the rules and guidelines related to student conduct as outlined in the HCC Student Handbook.

Scholastic Dishonesty will result in a referral to the Dean of Student Services. See the link below for details.

Here's the link to the HCC information about academic integrity (Scholastic Dishonesty and Violation of Academic Scholastic Dishonesty and Grievance):

<https://www.hccs.edu/about-hcc/procedures/student-rights-policies--procedures/student-procedures/>
(<https://www.hccs.edu/about-hcc/procedures/student-rights-policies--procedures/student-procedures/>)

Attendance Procedures

As this is a class with set meeting times, you are expected to attend and log into Canvas regularly. I am not going to assign an attendance grade; there are no points available simply for showing up or logging in, and likewise, I assume that if you miss a class or a login, you have a good reason. I will tell you that students who do not regularly attend or log in rarely pass the course. This is not because I penalize them, but rather because the information in the class is necessary for success in the class.

Please also note that part of your daily grades come from participating in class activities and discussion, so you cannot earn those points if you are not regularly present in class or on Canvas.

When you miss class or logins, you are still responsible for assignments due that day, announcements I made in Canvas, and information from lectures and class activities. You should read discussions and announcements to catch up, and contact another student in the course to confirm what you missed. Contact this student before you contact me; I will fill in gaps if you have questions after you have made the initial effort to catch up, but can't re-teach the whole class via email to every student who has been absent.

Please be aware that lack of active participation in a class before the Official Day of Record will result in the PeopleSoft student system automatically dropping you from the course. I don't have any control over this system, and your only recourse is to see your advisor.

Also note that I will not withdraw you from the course if you stop attending/logging in. Because the state of Texas assigns penalties to students for course withdrawals, I expect you to make your own decision about when it makes sense to you for you to withdraw from a course.

Student Conduct

Your course grade is based on the degree to which you model professional behavior in my course. What does that mean? The following factors affect your grade:

Class discussion: participating with relevant contributions in all or most classroom discussions helps your professionalism grade. Your participations should be on topic and show your familiarity with the readings/lecture material, and your responses to other students should show that you paid close attention to what they wrote.

Respect for others: respect for people of all identities and all reasonable viewpoints will help your professionalism grade. Specifically, please be sure to use respectful language that is not perceived as racist, sexist, ableist, homophobic, transphobic, or disparaging toward the appearance, bodies, body size/shape, gender, gender identity/presentation, or sexual orientation of any person, whether or not they are in the classroom.

Avoiding disruptions: making sure that you avoid personal arguments with me or other classmates in face-to-face and online discussions and any other facet of the class. Remember to keep interactions respectful to everyone, and to focus on course materials. Private concerns about personality conflicts with others should be addressed away from official class discussions so they do not disrupt everyone's learning.

Respectfulness beyond in-class and online discussions: Please remember your professionalism is still being assessed in email, exams, and in office hours. If we are engaged in class-related communications, the expectations for professional behavior and language apply.

Instructor's Course-Specific Information

Basic Assignment Requirements: All assignments should be typed and spellchecked, at a minimum, and come to me in a readable format (no JPGs or other image files for text).
