COURSE DESCRIPTION: Government 2306 is one of two courses designed to introduce students to the politics of government at the national, state and local levels. This course is fully transferable to other colleges and universities. The course curriculum will include the following areas: Origin and development of the Texas Constitution, the structure and powers of state and local government, intergovernmental relations, political participation, the campaign/election process, public policy and the political culture of Texas. The course will basically be divided into three components/modules each resulting in test to evaluate learning outcomes. We will certainly address high profile current events, as well as issues related to the 85th Texas legislative session.

Please note that any student who faces challenges securing their food or housing and believes this may affect their performance in the course is urged to contact the Dean of Students for support. Furthermore, please notify the professor if you are comfortable in doing so. This will enable us to provide any resources that HCCS possess.

Your participation and involvement in the learning process and class activities is highly encouraged. Not only is this part of the required curriculum competencies, but this will be an essential ingredient in your enjoyment and success in this class. This course is designed to go far beyond the mere presentation, memorization and testing of data. It will promote each student's involvement in the learning process both in and out of class. I will encourage you to take an active role by listening, reading, completing assignments and independent learning exercises, as well as participation in classroom activities.

Student Learning Outcomes

- * Identify the structure, functions and nature of the institutions of government in Texas.
- * Understand and describe the development, purpose and attributes of the Texas Constitution
- * Identify the policy making process and comprehend the outcomes of state and local policy in Texas.

- * Understand how political values and ideas are developed and expressed and the means through which one may engage in the political system.
- * Comprehend how interest groups, parties and the structure of the political system influence political participation.

Core Objectives

The Higher Education Coordinating Board (THECB) mandates that the core curriculum must ensure that students will develop the essential knowledge and skills they need to be successful in college, in a career, in their communities, and in life. Through the Texas Core Curriculum, students will gain a foundation of knowledge of human cultures and the physical and natural world, develop principles of personal and social responsibility for living in a diverse world, and advance intellectual and practical skills that are essential for all learning.

Students enrolled in GOVT 2305/2306 core curriculum courses will complete assessments designed to measure the following core objectives:

- o Critical Thinking Skills—to include creative thinking, innovation, inquiry, and analysis, evaluation and synthesis of information
- o Communication Skills—to include effective development, interpretation and expression of ideas through written, oral and visual communication
- o Personal Responsibility—to include the ability to connect choices, actions and consequences to ethical decision-making
- o Social Responsibility—to include the ability to connect choices, actions, and consequences to ethical decision-making

Student assessment of proficiencies mandated by THECB may include testing, projects, or assignments.

Government Program Student Learning Outcomes

1. Identify and describe the institutions of American national government.
2. Identify and describe the institutions of the State of Texas government.
3. Identify and evaluate information sources for political news, data, and opinion.
4. Analyze the effects of the historical, social, political, economic, and cultural forces on politics and government.
5. Recognize and assume the responsibilities of citizenship by developing one’s critical thinking skills, engaging in public discourse, and by obtaining information through the news media.

Any student who has not taken a make-up by this date will receive a ZERO for the applicable exam(s).

Instructional Methods

TESTING: The major test will comprise the largest percentage of your grade. Each test will consist of approximately 70-80% objective involving multiple-choice questions. There will be no True/False questions. The remaining 20-30% will consist of narrative questions such as short- answer, discussion or essay questions. Every test will have a significant narrative/writing component. Some class time will be devoted to review test expectations before the first exam. Test questions will come from lecture, independent reading assignments, class discussions and other classroom activities. At a minimum, ninety percent of the test will be based on materials covered in class. This means that you will have to take individual responsibility for individual and independent preparation for some portion of the test materials. I would suggest that you maintain your class preparation activities on a systematic and consistent basis in order to be more successful on the test. Most evidence indicates that "cramming" usually not result in success in your grade or the actual retention of information. Just as in the nature of the course, the test will not emphasize memorization but real understanding and critical thinking. You should be prepared to apply, evaluate, and analyze in the testing process. The three tests, including the in-class critical thinking essay, will account for 65% of your final grade. You will need two Bluebooks and two SCANTRONS for the course.

It is expected that students take each test at the regularly scheduled time. If you do miss an exam, it is the responsibility of the student to contact the instructor to schedule a make-up exam. You should contact me as quickly as possible to facilitate the scheduling. You should be able to present a reasonable explanation for missing the exam. You may be asked to provide written documentation to support such reasoning. No student may take more than one make-up exam without the permission of the instructor! Since we no longer have access to the Testing Center, I cannot guarantee a quick and immediate make-up. As noted, I will give make-up exams; however, you should not take this lightly. There are certainly valid reasons for make-up exams; however, it is certainly not a good idea to choose to take a make-up. You should also note that the structure and nature of this exam will be different than the original test and will become a predominately narrative test with a greater emphasis on short answers and essays.

CLASS PROJECT: You should note that my grading system is comprehensive and includes a method of evaluation of each identified competency area. If test taking is not one of your strengths, you have the opportunity to improve your status in class with the other graded activities. Your chosen project will be valued at 50 points. You will be given a choice of two options. There will be additional instructions for both options on my Learning Web page. The due date for the Project is due Thursday-April 19, 2018. I will not accept projects after Tuesday-April 24, 2018 and there will be a 30% deduction if the project is submitted late.

ASSIGNMENTS: You will be given an assignment related to each exam that will count 24 points each. These will be self-paced assignments and you will have more than ample time to complete them. They will be given to you at the beginning of each section of test materials and you will turn them in on the applicable test date. They will be based on class lecture and independent reading assignments. Eleven points will be deducted for each class session the assignments are turned in late. I will not accept assignments more than one class session after their original due date except in rare and unusual circumstances. Assignments are considered late if they are turned in after I request their submission. Their primary purpose will be to assist you in the study and preparation process. This is not just busy work. They can serve as a valuable tool to get you invested in the learning process. I would suggest that you work on these on a regular and consistent basis to obtain their maximum benefit.

QUIZZES: The purpose of the quizzes is to ensure that you come to class on time and prepared. This means that you should maintain your reading assignments according to the schedule. This is also intended to discourage the practice of "cramming" the night before the test. I want you to be a part of the class discussions and I want you to retain the material. These quizzes should facilitate this process. In the past, students have indicated that the quizzes have actually served as a helpful tool in their overall grade. They will be short and will take place at both the beginning, as well as the end of class. If you are absent or late, you will miss the quiz. If you miss the quiz for any reason, you miss the points. There will be no make-ups. In total, there will be nine quizzes that will count four points each. You will be allowed to drop one quiz. If you come to class and take the quiz and leave early without notification/approval, your quiz score will not count. You will receive a zero for that particular quiz. All quizzes are unannounced and will primarily focus on the reading assignments as opposed to the materials covered in class. Some quizzes may be interactive and there may also be bonus quizzes. Again, there are no make-ups for these quizzes.

TEXTBOOK:

Maxwell, William; Crain, Ernest; Jones, Mark P; Texas Politics Today: 2015-2016 (17th Edition)
(Boston: Cengage, 2014).

If you purchase a new textbook, you will receive an access code for MindTap. This is not mandatory but should serve as a supplement to the learning process. There are a number of features that might be useful to you but there will be no mandate for usage or any points associated with any of the activities included. Additional information will be included on the Learning Web at a later date.

HCC Policy Statement: ADA

HCC strives to make all learning experiences as accessible as possible. If you anticipate or experience academic barriers based on your disability (including mental health, chronic or temporary medical conditions), please meet with a campus Abilities Counselor as soon as possible in order to establish reasonable accommodations. Reasonable accommodations are established through an interactive process between you, your instructor(s) and Ability Services. It is the policy and practice of HCC to create inclusive and accessible learning environments consistent with federal and state law. For more information, please go <http://www.hccs.edu/district/students/disability-services/>

Houston Community College is committed to cultivating an environment free from inappropriate conduct of a sexual or gender-based nature including sex discrimination, sexual assault, sexual harassment, and sexual violence. Sex discrimination includes all forms of sexual and gender-based misconduct and violates an individual's fundamental rights and personal dignity. Title IX prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex-including pregnancy and parental status-in educational programs and activities. If you require an accommodation due to pregnancy please contact an Abilities Services Counselor. The Director of EEO/Compliance is designated as the Title IX Coordinator and Section 504 Coordinator. All inquiries concerning HCC policies, compliance with applicable laws, statutes, and regulations (such as Title VI, Title IX, and Section 504), and complaints may be directed to:

HCC Policy Statement: Academic Honesty

A student who is academically dishonest is, by definition, not showing that the coursework has been learned, and that student is claiming an advantage not available to other students. The instructor is responsible for measuring each student's individual achievements and also for ensuring that all students compete on a level playing field. Thus, in our system, the instructor has teaching, grading, and enforcement roles. You are expected to be familiar with college policy on Academic Honesty, found in the catalog. What that means is: If you are charged with an offense, pleading ignorance of the rules will not help you. Students are responsible for conducting themselves with honor and integrity in fulfilling course requirements. Penalties and/or disciplinary proceedings may be initiated by College System officials against a student accused of scholastic dishonesty. "Scholastic dishonesty": includes, but is not limited to, cheating on a test, plagiarism, and collusion. Please check with me if you do not understand these concepts.

Cheating on a test includes:

- Copying from another students' test paper;
- Using materials not authorized by the person giving the test;
- Collaborating with another student during a test without authorization;
- Knowingly using, buying, selling, stealing, transporting, or soliciting in whole or part the contents of a test that has not been administered;

Plagiarism means the appropriation of another's work and the unacknowledged incorporation of that work in one's own written work offered for credit.

Collusion mean the unauthorized collaboration with another person in preparing written work offered for credit. Possible punishments for academic dishonesty may include a grade of 0 or F in the particular assignment, failure in the course, and/or recommendation for probation or dismissal from the College System. (See the Student Handbook) <http://central.hccs.edu/students/student-handbook/>

HCC Policy Statements

CAMPUS CARRY: "At HCC the safety of our students, staff, and faculty is our first priority. As of August 1, 2017, Houston Community College is subject to the Campus Carry Law (SB11 2015). For more information, visit the HCC Campus Carry web page at <http://www.hccs.edu/district/departments/police/campus-carry/>."

Attendance: It is important that you come to class. Regular attendance is an important factor in your success in this class. Research has shown that the single most important factor in student success is attendance. Simply put, going to class greatly increases your ability to succeed. You are expected to attend on a regular basis and you are still responsible for the information that you missed

Since we sometimes go beyond the textbook in class, the information that is discussed in class is important in the learning process. Poor attendance often contributes to poor grades. If you miss any class, you are responsible for all material missed. It is a good idea to find a friend or a buddy in class who would be willing to share class notes/discussions or be able to assist you in some other way if you unavoidably miss a class. Also, you can always visit during my office hours to “catch up” on the material you missed. Again, class attendance is an important component to your success.

HCC Course Withdrawal Policy: Each student should be aware that both state law and college policy has changed. The state legislature has recently passed a law limiting the number of withdrawals during a student’s academic career. The intent is crystal clear.... You must become more responsible for making academic decisions. You should indeed maintain contact with your instructor, be aware of your grade status, and seek out assistance regarding study habits, tutorials, etc... that might assist you. If you wish to withdraw from this course, contact me or a counselor before doing so.

HCCS policy allows an instructor to drop or withdraw a student in they miss more than six hours of classroom instruction. I will indeed follow that policy. You should note that you may be withdrawn from class if you miss more than those six hours of classroom instruction, but you should never take this as a certainty. Under these circumstances, it is imperative that you maintain appropriate communication with your instructor. If you choose to drop/withdraw from class on your own accord, you must be responsible for completing the process by the applicable date from this class. The last scheduled drop/ withdrawal date this semester is Tuesday-April 3, 2018. You should also note that instructors will no longer be able to assign a (W) after the designated drop date.

If you plan on withdrawing from class, you should discuss this with a HCC counselor or your professor prior to withdrawing (dropping) the class for consultation and this must be done PRIOR to the withdrawal deadline to receive a “W” for the course. Remember to allow a 24-hour response time when communicating via email and/or telephone with a professor and/or counselor. Please note that you have the individual responsible of completing this process if you choose to drop/withdraw. Remember: the policy indicates I may drop you, but do not automatically assume you will automatically be dropped. This is not a certainty and you should never take this for granted. Please take individual responsibility to know your status in class.

Assessment: It is important that you understand your grades status at all times during the semester. I would certainly encourage you to contact or visit with me if you are not comfortable with the material being presented or you did not do well on the quizzes and/or test. This is particularly important to do early in the semester. I will also provide an opportunity for such a grade evaluation prior to the drop date.

Repeat Course Fee

Students who take a course for the third time or more must now pay significant tuition/fee increases at HCC and other Texas public colleges and universities. At HCC it is an additional $50 per credit hour. If you are considering course withdrawal for any reason, confer with your instructor/counselor as soon as possible. Both can provide assistance and advice.

Classroom Behavior

As your instructor and as a student in this class, it is our shared responsibility to develop and maintain a positive learning environment for everyone. Your instructor takes this responsibility very seriously and will inform members of the class if their behavior makes it difficult for him/her to carry out this task. As a fellow learner, you are asked to respect the learning needs of your classmates and assist your instructor achieve this critical goal.

Technology: Please be careful about the use of technology in the classroom. However, I will not prohibit them and urge you to use them for classroom purposes only. I do the same for cell phones. Generally, I discourage them in the classroom. They will only present a problem if you are using them as a disruption to the learning process or they serve to diminish your engagement in the class. That means you should not be using them for Instagram, Facebook, Snap-chat on-line dating or posting pictures your lunch. If I determine that you are using them for non-class purposes using and other non-class related websites, I will ask that you discontinue usage in class. The most important thing that you should avoid is “texting,” as well as the abuse of social media during class time.

GRADING: You will have the opportunity to earn a maximum of 464 points. Grades will be determined by the percentage of total points you earn based on the scale of 90-100%-A, 80-89%-B, 70-79%-C, 60-69%-D and 59% and below an F. The minimum number of points for each letter grade is as follows:

A-416 points... B-369 points... C-323 points... D-277 points... F-276 points and below

The following is the distribution of the point system:

Test 1.....100 points	Assignment(s)72 points (16%)
Test 2.....100 points	Project.....50 points (11%)
Test 3*.....100 points	Quizzes..... 32 points (6%)
*non-comprehensive	Syllabus Quiz.....10 points (2%)

Final Notes: I want to encourage you to keep an open line of communication with me relative to your academic success. Please let me know if you have obstacles to being successful. I would also encourage your seeking assistance when necessary. If I cannot help you, I might be able to refer you to someone who can. I want to encourage you to access the Writing Lab. I will not maintain a formal schedule but will be available for tutorials if you request such help. I ask that you generally not use email as a form of submitting assignments and papers; however, there may some exceptions. In those cases, always follow-up the email with the presentation of a hard copy in person. I will only grade the hard copy version of any assignment or paper.

Thanks and have a great semester. Gary LeBlanc
