

Glenna Bell, Ph.D.
Curriculum Vitae

Work Address: Northeast College, 8001 Fulton, Houston, Texas 77022

Office Telephone Number: 713-718-8016

College Email Address: glenna.bell@hccs.edu

Education

Ph.D. Literature/Creative Writing	University of Houston
M.A. English	Texas A&M University, College Station
B.A. English	Texas A&M University, College Station

Teaching Experience

- Instructor of English
Houston Community College-Northeast
Courses: Developmental English, Freshman Composition, and Early American Literature
- Adjunct Instructor of English
University of Houston-Downtown
Courses: Freshman Composition, Technical and Business Communication, and Early American Literature
- Adjunct Instructor of English
Houston Community College-Central
Courses: Freshman Composition, Technical and Business Correspondence and Report Writing, and Early American Literature
- Teaching Assistant, English Department
University of Houston-Central Courses: Freshman Composition and Drama as Literature
- Adjunct Instructor of English
North Harris County College-Kingwood
Courses: Freshman Composition and Developmental English
- Teaching Assistant, English Department
Texas A&M University-College Station
Courses: Freshman Composition

Professional Accomplishments

- Served as the personal medical writer for Dr. O. H. Frazier, Chief of Cardiopulmonary Transplantation at The Texas Heart Institute (St. Luke's, Houston)
- Taught English to National Oilwell-Varco machinists by contract
- Evaluated the University of Houston-Downtown Writing Proficiency Exit Exams
- Judged the annual University of Houston-Downtown writing contest
- Evaluated foreign students' use of English at the Texas A&M University English Language Institute
- Assisted students in developing first-place essays for the HCC-Northeast College CAFE Writing Contest and the University of Houston-Downtown Freshman Composition Contest and Professional Writing Portfolio Competition
- Received nomination for the Houston Community College Teaching Excellence Award at the HCC-Central Campus