My Personal Welcome

Welcome to the course! In this course you are treated as serious scholars. Together we will learn and grow as readers, critics, and scholars in the field of Mexican American Literature and Studies. I am looking forward to getting to know you through your work and looking forward to interacting with you.

What's Exciting About This Course

In this course, you will be immersed in literature, which is the oral and written creative expression of values, fears, and concerns of a people throughout time. In particular, we will be focusing on the literature of Mexican Americans. You will read literature by Mexican Americans spanning from the early 1900s to today and also familiarize yourself with Mesoamerican myths. You will meet the heroes of Chicana literature: a murderer whose beauty mark almost gets her caught, a mother imprisoned and haunted by the ghost of her son, a young man torn between his family and a pressure to "Americanize" himself, and a young boy whose sexuality will inform his experience of the world. You will learn about the history and struggles of Mexican Americans and their similarity with other minorities' experiences. In this course you will see yourself represented in the literature whether because you are Chicana or because you can connect with the Mexican American experience in other ways.

Approach to the Course

Mexican American writers have been producing politically and culturally relevant literary work since before the 20th century; yet, their inclusion in the Western canon has been minimal. Part of the purpose of this course is to disrupt this pattern by introducing the student to a variety of literary works produced by Mexican American authors that now can be said to constitute part of the Chicana Literary Canon. For this reason, this course is in many ways a survey course with one of its primary goals being exposure to the works. We will try to read a lot of texts; the texts studied in this class will span multiple forms and genres and multiple periods of recent Mexican American (American) history. As part of our exploration in this course we will attempt to discern why the chosen readings can be considered representative of the Mexican American community and/or experience during a particular time and space. Furthermore, we will examine their continued relevance in contemporary society by looking closely at the political and social issues they address. We will be using concepts such as race, class, gender, and identity to form guiding questions through which we can approach the texts of this course. We will also be investigating the influence of the Western canon on Mexican American literary production and problematizing the notion of the canon in general. Finally, we will pay close attention to the aesthetic aspects of the literary works assigned. Through these various approaches we will come to a preliminary answer to the following question: Does the value of Mexican American literature lie in its contribution to universal themes, issues, and concerns or does it lie in its particularity?

Course Overview

Course Description

ENGL 2351 is a survey of Mexican American/Chicana literature from Mesoamerica to the present. Students will study literary works of fiction, poetry, drama, essays, and memoirs in relation to their historical, linguistic, political, regional, gendered, and cultural contexts. Texts will be selected from a diverse group of authors, literary movements, and media forms. Topics and themes may include the literary performance of identity and culture, aesthetic mediation of racialization, struggle and protest, and artistic activism. Core curriculum course.

Program-Specific Student Success Information

As with any three-hour course, expect to spend at least six hours per week outside of class reading and studying the material. I will provide assignments to help you use those six hours per week wisely. Additional time will be required for written assignments. Successful completion of this course requires a combination of reading the textbook, attending class, completing assignments in Eagle Online, and participating in class discussions. There is no short cut for success in this course; it requires reading (and probably re-reading) and studying the material using the course objectives as your guide.

Instructional Materials and Resources

Required Books

The HCC Online Bookstore \(https://hccs.bncollege.com/shop/hccs-central/page/find-textbooks\) provides searchable information on assigned books for all courses. Make sure to purchase only the books listed below in this syllabus. Sometimes the list at the bookstore is not updated. The books for this course should all be available on paperback and should amount to no more than $50 dollars.

The books required are listed below in the order they will be used. We will be using our first book listed by the end of the first week of class, so it is absolutely imperative that you order your books now. The HCC bookstore does not usually stock enough, so it might not be a bad idea to try to purchase books on Amazon or our local Half Price Books or Barnes & Noble. Not having the materials available will not be an acceptable excuse for not turning in work, since you are being given ample notice to acquire them.

Keep in mind that HCC bookstore sometimes has a “price-match” offer, so ask before you purchase. The prices listed below in the book information section are from Amazon for new books. Renting or buying used will be under $35.

Arte Publico at U of H might have copies of George Washington Gomez and of The Collected Stories of Maria Cristina Mena for sale. You can call them at 713-743-2998.

Microsoft Office is free for HCC students: Download Microsoft Office 365 Free

Tutoring

HCC provides free, confidential, and convenient academic support, including writing critiques, to HCC students in an online environment and on campus. Tutoring is provided by HCC personnel in order to ensure that it is contextual and appropriate. Visit the HCC Tutoring Services \(http://www.hccs.edu/resources-for/current-students/tutoring/\) website for services provided.

Libraries

The HCC Library System consists of 9 libraries and 6 Electronic Resource Centers (ERCs) that are inviting places to study and collaborate on projects. Librarians are available both at the libraries and online to show you how to locate and use the resources you need. The libraries maintain a large selection of electronic resources as well as collections of books, magazines, newspapers, and audiovisual materials. The portal to all libraries' resources and services is the HCCS library web page at <http://library.hccs.edu> (<http://library.hccs.edu/>).

✓ Course Requirements

Assignments, Exams, and Activities

Type	Weight	Topic	Notes
Quizzes	24%		There will be quizzes for most of the readings assigned in this class. There may also be quizzes on some of the power points and lectures. The quizzes are made up of 5 to 10 multiple-choice or short answer questions that are meant to confirm that you have read the material or listened to a lecture. They are not meant to be difficult but are simple information recall quizzes. Once in a while, you might have a more involved question, but mostly I assign quizzes to motivate you to read the material and generate easy points. Quizzes are timed. Quizzes are not accepted late.
Reading Response Forums	12%		Reading Responses will require a higher level of engagement with the readings than the quizzes do. You will be asked to answer specific questions and to discuss the readings in a thoughtful way. Beyond showing that you have read the materials, these assignments will require you to show that you are processing, interpreting, and/or analyzing the readings as well. While these responses are not meant to be essays, usually you will be asked to respond in at least 250 – 300 words. Sometimes you will have one specific question to tackle; sometimes you will have two to three questions to respond to; and sometimes you will be asked to pick your own passages from the readings to discuss. Instructions will be given online in the assignment submission link. Reading Responses will be assigned as Forums and will be visible to the other class members. Meaningful discussion between you and your peers will be encouraged and sometimes required. You will have 5 to 7 of these assignments. Reading responses are not accepted late.
Course Exam	22%		You will have a course exam that will cover the first three to four weeks of material. The exam will consist of multiple-choice questions, matching quotes, and short essay questions. The exam will be timed and administered online. You DO NOT need Lockdown Browser or any other external program to take the exam. A review sheet will be provided, online or in-class, at least five days before the exam. You should not wait until the review sheet is provided to begin studying for the exam. Check the schedule for the exam date and prepare accordingly.
Course Portfolio	20%		The course portfolio will be made up of 1 short analysis paper (800 words); three reviews of literary criticism articles which will be provided (500 words each); and one course reflection or cover letter (300 words). Further instructions will be provided on Canvas. This assignment will be accepted up to 48 hours late with a 5-pt deduction per day.

Type	Weight	Topic	Notes
Oral Presentation	4%		An oral (recorded) presentation on a topic still to be determined will be assigned. This presentation will be due towards the end of the course.
Creative Response Assignments	18%		In this course, you will complete three Creative Response Assignments. These assignments will encourage adaptations of the texts you read as well as artistic representations of the texts, themes, and topics in the course.

Grading Formula

Grade	Range	Notes
A	90-100	Excellent work that goes beyond completing the requirements of an assignment. The quality of this work is clearly above average. Work shows higher level mastery of required knowledge and skills.
B	80-89	Work that meets all the requirements of an assignment and that is of average quality overall. Work shows mastery of required knowledge and skills.
C	70-79	Work that might meet all basic requirements of an assignment but is of below average quality. Work that does not meet some of the basic requirements of the assignment. Work shows some mastery of required knowledge or skills.
D	60-69	Work is just short of meeting basic requirements. Work is of inadequate quality in content, form, and/or style. Work shows very little and/or inconsistent understanding of required knowledge or skills.
F	59 and below	Work fails to address the assignment requirements, is incomplete, and/or is significantly below average in quality. Work does not show mastery of required knowledge and skills.

* Instructor's Practices and Procedures

Incomplete Policy

An incomplete grade for this course (I) will be granted only after an online virtual conference with the professor and only in instances of legitimate emergencies. In order to receive a grade of Incomplete ("I"), a student must have completed at least 85% of the work in the course and must be passing the course (C or better) at the time of the request. In all cases, the instructor reserves the right to decline a student's request to receive a grade of Incomplete.

When you receive an incomplete, you must complete the coursework within 6 months of the original end date of the course. If an "Incomplete" is not completed within the 6 month period, your grade defaults to an F.

Attendance Procedures

This course is an Online WW course (Online Asynchronous). This means that we do not meet virtually at a scheduled time. Still, HCC policy determines that students must attend class regularly and the institution has a specific definition of what "regular" online attendance means: students in ONLINE courses must log into their Eagle Online class weekly and actively participate or they will be counted as absent. (Because this is a summer course, you really will need to be signing in at least three times a week). Signing in alone will not count as attendance. Active participation and completion of assignments is required. Although it is the responsibility of the student to withdraw officially from a course when necessary, the professor also has the authority to block a student from accessing Eagle Online, and/or to withdraw a student for excessive absences or failure to participate regularly.

IMPORTANT Students who miss more than 3 assignments in a row may be dropped from the course for excessive absences. However, do not rely on this; if you desire to be dropped before the WITHDRAWAL date, which is Monday, June 28, please contact the instructor at least three days before the deadline (June 28). You may also withdraw yourself from the course using your student HCC portal as long as you do it before the withdrawal deadline. Students who have not signed in and completed at least one assignment by the official day of record, which is Thursday, June 10, will be dropped for noncompliance with the attendance policy. Completing the DE online orientation does not count as attendance.

Academic Integrity

In this course, you are expected to conduct yourself with integrity and honesty. Your assignments should be completed by you and research should only be referenced when required and should be cited if used in the work you submitted. More directly, you really don't need to be doing any research online as you read your texts and complete minor assignments.

Plagiarism is a serious offense. According to the Student Handbook for the Houston Community College System, scholastic dishonesty includes cheating on a test, plagiarism, and collusion and is punishable by a grade of 0 or F on the particular assignment, failure in the course, and/or recommendation for probation or dismissal from the College. Plagiarism includes using another person's words or ideas as your own and/or incorporating them into your own work without quotation marks (if using exact phrasing) or appropriate and correct acknowledgement. Collusion includes any "unauthorized collaboration" with your classmates or any other students— present or past—in the composition of work that you claim as your own.

Plagiarism, collusion, or cheating of any sort will result, at a minimum, in a grade of 0 for the assignment, NO DISCUSSION. You will not be allowed to rewrite, revise, or resubmit ANY plagiarized assignments (responses, quizzes, tests, or papers). Please note also that "accidental" plagiarism or collusion will result in the same penalty. A second instance of plagiarism or cheating in this course will result in an F for the course. When any plagiarism is caught, it is never up for discussion. You get an F, no questions asked, no explanations necessary. Further disciplinary action may be taken by instructor and scholastic dishonesty may result in a referral to the Dean of Student Services. If you are still not sure what constitutes plagiarism, it is your responsibility to contact the instructor or inform yourself. There will also be a short lesson on plagiarism incorporated into the course in the first week. You are expected to be familiar with HCC's policy on Academic Honesty found in the catalogue. What that means is that if you are charged with an offense, pleading ignorance of the rules will not help you.

Here's the link to the HCC information about academic integrity (Scholastic Dishonesty and Violation of Academic Scholastic Dishonesty and Grievance):

<https://www.hccs.edu/about-hcc/procedures/student-rights-policies--procedures/student-procedures/>
(<https://www.hccs.edu/about-hcc/procedures/student-rights-policies--procedures/student-procedures/>)

Late Policy/Missed Assignments

An assignment is considered LATE if it is submitted 10 minutes or more after the deadline which for our assignments will be 11:59 pm on the due date. Minor assignments (quizzes, reading responses) are not accepted late. There are no exceptions to this rule regardless of the reason or excuse for missing a deadline. That is, even if you have a good reason for missing the deadline, an exception will not be made.

In order to account for emergencies, two quizzes and one reading response (forum) will be dropped. You will also be allowed to use extra credit assignments to replace up to two minor missed assignments. Creative Response Assignments are accepted up to 5 days late with a 5 point penalty per day starting AFTER the first 24 hours.

Major assignments (Course Portfolio, and Oral Presentation) will have their own late policies explained in the assignment instructions.

Dropped Assignments

Quizzes and Reading Response Forums are NOT ACCEPTED LATE as stated above. To account for emergencies and/or other legitimate issues that may arise, your TWO lowest quiz grades and your lowest Reading Response Forum grade will be dropped. This way you don't have to ask for exceptions to be made for you if you miss a deadline. Asking for an exception to be made for you, may result in you forfeiting this drop privilege. Note that even if you are running behind on a couple of minor assignments in this course, you should be okay. That is the purpose of this DROPPED ASSIGNMENTS rule -- to help you succeed even in the case of an emergency and even though I don't accept late work for the above mentioned categories of assignments.

Late Exams/Missed Exams

Exams have to be completed by their deadline. An exam that is submitted 5 to 10 minutes late will receive a 10-point penalty. An exam that is submitted more than 10 minutes late will not be graded. You must make sure you have access to reliable internet when taking the exam, so that you are not accidentally signed-out while you are taking it. This will lock you out of the exam since you are only allowed one try per exam.

If an emergency keeps you from completing the exam by the deadline, you must communicate with me as soon as possible. Documentation of a legitimate emergency may be requested in order for you to be allowed to make-up the exam. It is up to the instructor to determine whether the emergency is legitimate or not. Furthermore, if you miss the exam deadline you must contact me within 24 hours in order for me to even consider allowing a make-up. This of course does not apply if your emergency is one that disables you from being in contact this soon. If an emergency arises, please use your best judgement and act professionally and responsibly.

Instructor's Practices

Grading

I will grade the first few assignments within 24 hours of the due date, just so students can be at ease and confirm that they are submitting assignments correctly. After the first week of classes, I will be grading assignments every five or six days in chunks. Feedback is only provided on major assignments, (exam, course portfolio, and creative responses). If you have any questions regarding your grades, please do email me. Below is an explanation of grading icons that you will see in the Canvas Gradebook:

Note: Some external tool assignments may display a dash instead of a submission icon after you submit the assignment.

Student Conferences

There will be multiple opportunities aside from office hours for you to individually meet with me for a short conference. I will post announcements regarding these opportunities and encourage to take advantage of them. It is a way for us to get to know each other as well as for us to address any areas of concerns you may have.

Note on Course Content

Many of the materials used in a variety of college courses are meant to cover or express a broad range of human experience; so is the case with works of art (literature included) and with works in history, sociology, psychology, etc. Therefore, the content of this course may include topics that are difficult for some people to confront or discuss; these may include but are not limited to rape, abuse, death, violence, war, and racism. Furthermore, we will deal with sensitive material about controversial topics and we may encounter adult content. If you foresee this getting in the way of your successful completion of the course, you must email me as soon as possible and before any problems arise. You may also consider taking another course. However, I want to stress that I am careful with the materials I choose, and I am committed to my students. So, I do not choose material that is irresponsibly or gratuitously violent.

Student Conduct

General Note on Student Conduct

The classes you take at HCC are not only beginning points for your academic journey; they also prepare you for your professional life, whatever that may be in the future. As such, your HCC classes are opportunities for you to polish your professional persona. Respectful, responsible, and professional engagement is a must in this course. The following are some detailed guidelines for student conduct that you are expected to abide by and that foster professionalization and success in this course:

- Acquire all materials necessary for the course in a timely manner.
- Complete all reading assignments for the course; approach the readings with curiosity and seriousness. Annotating readings is one way to engage fruitfully with the coursework of this class.
- Be prepared to engage with the readings; you will be expected to be able to recall some information as well as discuss ideas presented in the readings.
- Actively participate in discussion forums and group work. Discussion forums and group assignments give us an opportunity to share our thoughts with our peers and to practice discussion and collaboration as a form of learning.
- Ask questions, respectfully, of your colleagues or of me when clarification is needed.
- When engaging in any discussion or interaction with your peers or the professor, be respectful and open-minded. Expect to engage with ideas, beliefs, and worldviews that are not your own.
- Do not present opinions as facts but do argue for your opinion WITH facts and/or other forms of reasoning. That is, your opinion is something that may be valid and valuable, but you should be ready to back it up with legitimate facts, sources, or rational thinking.
- Work hard for the grade you desire.
- Seek help from professor, peers, or tutors if you are struggling in the course.
- Abide by course policies.

Forums and Other Engagement with Peers

In this course we might be exposed to material that is new to us and that will cause us to ask questions and voice particular experiences and opinions in order to try to understand the material. Treat the topics, reading materials, and discussions as subjects of study rather than as attacks on your personal views or beliefs. But certainly, do speak up when you have something relevant to contribute even if it differs from the author's or another student's opinion or what you might understand as my opinion. A diversity of voices is important in the process of learning. Do take note, however, that while everyone might be entitled to an opinion, not all opinions are equal; furthermore, voicing opinions that are clearly racist, bigoted, misogynist, homophobic, transphobic, or mean-spirited is in no way permitted in my classroom. I encourage you to ask questions, explore problems, and be open-minded and I trust that you know the difference between critical thinking and purposely inflammatory discussion. If you are unsure, preface your comment or question by saying that you are unsure.

Group Work

Part of the work you do for this class will be in groups. During group work you are expected to act responsibly and respectfully. Your individual participation in groups will be evaluated in multiple ways including content contribution, preparedness, and communication with other group members. Remember that the success of your peers, in part, depends on your contribution.

Faculty Statement about Student Success

Success comes in many different shapes and forms. It is not quantifiable simply in the form of a grade but grades can definitely be one way to think of success in this course. Whatever your goal may be, I am here to guide you and it will be important for you to reach out to me with questions or concerns as the course proceeds, if you have any. Furthermore, you will need to be able to dedicate time and careful thought to this course if you want to take from this course what it has to offer. If you can do that, you can succeed in this course. As a final note, I would like to add that literature is my passion and the college classroom to me is a sacred space. It is a space of contemplation and personal growth not only for you all, my students, but for me as well. Each moment spent seriously reflecting on the texts and topics of the course, on our thoughts about them, and on the experiences that inform our relation to these texts and topics is a moment of SUCCESS in my book. I hope you feel the same way!

Social Justice Statement

Houston Community College is committed to furthering the cause of social justice in our community and beyond. HCC does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, gender identity and expression, national origin, age, disability, sexual orientation, or veteran status. I fully support that commitment and, as such, will work to maintain a positive learning environment based upon open communication, mutual respect, and non-discrimination. Furthermore, you will be expected to share in the creation and maintenance of a positive and safe learning environment as well. Part of this process includes acknowledging and embracing the differences among us in order to establish and reinforce that each one of us matters. I appreciate your suggestions about how to best maintain this environment of respect. If you experience any type of discrimination, please contact me and/or the Office of Institutional Equity at 713-718-8271.

Instructional Modality & Canvas Information

Instructional Modality

This course is an Online Anytime (WW) course which means it is a traditional online course without scheduled meetings. The course is available and must be completed on Canvas (<https://eagleonline.hccs.edu> (<https://eagleonline.hccs.edu>)). All assignments, exams, and activities will be completed online.

Using Canvas - Connectivity & Performance

HCCS Open Lab locations may be used to access the Internet and Canvas. For best performance, Canvas should be used on the current or first previous major release of Chrome, Firefox, Edge, or Safari. Because it's built using web standards, Canvas runs on Windows, Mac, Linux, iOS, Android, or any other device with a modern web browser.

Canvas only requires an operating system that can run the latest compatible web browsers. Your computer operating system should be kept up to date with the latest recommended security updates and upgrades.

Using Canvas - Course Specifics

- A. Modules: To begin and complete the class simply work through the MODULES that can be accessed by clicking on the Modules link to the left of your screen. Consult the schedule provided for an alternate visual breakdown of the course. Modules are arranged in the order they should be completed. In the title of the Module you will find the date by which work from that Module should be completed and turned in. While you can access assignments and quizzes through your dashboard on Canvas and through your calendar on Canvas, the best way to complete the course is to go to the MODULES section and use the links there. Always read all the information provided in the Modules unless the information, reading, or assignment is marked optional.
- B. Announcements: Sometimes I will post reminders about due assignments but not always. Reminders and other important notices will be posted in the ANNOUNCEMENTS section. I will not email you individually or in a mass email about these types of reminders, so it is important that you make it a point to check the announcements for this class by clicking on the ANNOUNCEMENTS link to the left of the screen. You can also set posted announcements to go directly to your email, if they are not already doing this, by changing the course settings.

- C. Schedule: Work through the Modules during the allotted times. Because this is a short semester, you are expected to sign in to class at least three times a week. For the purpose of this course, our week starts on MONDAYS and ends on SUNDAYS. There will be two Modules to work on per week. One will be due on the Wednesday of that week; the second one will be due at the end of that week on Sunday. Make sure you always look ahead and keep an eye on due dates. Read all the information provided in the Modules. Do not skip around. Assignments will be due by 11:59 pm unless otherwise noted. I want to emphasize I do not accept late work, regardless of the reason the work might be late, so please plan accordingly.

Student Success

Expect to spend at least twice as many hours per week outside of class as you do in class studying the course content. Additional time will be required for written assignments. The assignments provided will help you use your study hours wisely. Successful completion of this course requires a combination of the following:

- Reading the textbook
- Attending class in person and/or online
- Completing assignments
- Participating in class activities

There is no short cut for success in this course; it requires reading (and probably re-reading) and studying the material using the course objectives as a guide.

Canvas Learning Management System

Canvas is HCC's Learning Management System (LMS), and can be accessed at the following URL:

<https://eagleonline.hccs.edu> (<https://eagleonline.hccs.edu>)

HCCS Open Lab locations may be used to access the Internet and Canvas. For best performance, Canvas should be used on the current or first previous major release of Chrome, Firefox, Edge, or Safari. Because it's built using web standards, Canvas runs on Windows, Mac, Linux, iOS, Android, or any other device with a modern web browser.

Canvas only requires an operating system that can run the latest compatible web browsers. Your computer operating system should be kept up to date with the latest recommended security updates and upgrades.

Student Resources

Tutoring

HCC provides free, confidential, and convenient academic support, including writing critiques, to HCC students in an online environment and on campus. Tutoring is provided by HCC personnel in order to ensure that it is contextual and appropriate. Visit the HCC Tutoring Services \(http://www.hccs.edu/resources-for/current-students/tutoring/\) website for services provided.

Libraries

The HCC Library System consists of 9 libraries and 6 Electronic Resource Centers (ERCs) that are inviting places to study and collaborate on projects. Librarians are available both at the libraries and online to show you how to locate and use the resources you need. The libraries maintain a large selection of electronic resources as well as collections of books, magazines, newspapers, and audiovisual materials. The portal to all libraries' resources and services is the HCCS library web page at <http://library.hccs.edu> (http://library.hccs.edu/).

Supplementary Instruction

Supplemental Instruction is an academic enrichment and support program that uses peer-assisted study sessions to improve student retention and success in historically difficult courses. Peer Support is provided by students who have already succeeded in completion of the specified course, and who earned a grade of A or B. Find details at <http://www.hccs.edu/resources-for/current-students/supplemental-instruction/> (<http://www.hccs.edu/resources-for/current-students/supplemental-instruction/>).
