It will be student's responsibility to consult with the instructor on such matters. HCCS policy provides that students may be dropped after missing more than six hours of class time. Although, I do not wish to drop anyone who is making a good faith effort to succeed in the course, if it appears to me that you have stopped attending classes and did not contact me, I may drop you from the class. However, please do not assume that I will understand that you want to be dropped. There are ambiguous cases in which I will assume that if you want to drop, you will do so yourself. Please fill out the withdrawal form in the campus office if you wish to drop my class. If you like, you can discuss the matter with me before dropping the class. Please refer to HCCS attendance policy for further clarification in this regard.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

"Students who take a course for the third time or more must now pay significant tuition fee increase at HCC and other Texas public colleges and universities. At HCC it is an additional $50.00 per credit hour. If you are considering course withdrawal because you are not earning passing grades, confer with your instructor/counselor as early as possible about your study habits, reading and writing, homework, test taking skills, attendance, course participation, and opportunities for tutoring or other assistance that might be available. Also, the state of Texas has passed a new law limiting new students (as of Fall 2007) to no more than six withdrawals throughout their academic career in obtaining a baccalaureate degree"

Due to new HCC policies and state mandates, I will not withdraw students. If you wish to withdraw from this course, please contact a counselor in student services. I recommend that you discuss this with me before you decide, but the decision is yours.

The last day that you can withdraw is November 2, 2012 (4:30 PM). If you do not withdraw yourself by this date, you will not receive a 'W'."

ACADEMIC HONESTY

Academic Honesty, Plagiarism, Collusion: HCC policy: "Scholastic dishonesty includes, but is not limited to, cheating on a test, plagiarism, and collusion. Cheating on a test includes copying from another student's test paper; using, during a test, materials not authorized by the person giving the test; collaborating with another student during a test without authority; knowingly using, buying, selling, stealing, transporting, or soliciting in whole or part the contents of an unadministered test; or bribing another person to obtain a test that is to be administered. 'Plagiarism' means the appropriation of another's work and the unacknowledged incorporation of that work in one's own written work for credit. 'Collusion' means the unauthorized collaboration with another person in preparing written work offered for credit."

"In simplified terms, cheating is: (1) taking unchanged passages (or slightly edited) from another person's writing and portraying them as one's own; (2) submitting a paper that includes paraphrases of another person's writing without giving credit; (3) having someone else write your paper for you; (4) copying or using another person's work during in-class writing or testing; (5) the unauthorized use of electronic devices during in-class writing or testing; and (6) violating testing rules. Keep in mind also that whether you are cheating or not, not following testing or writing rules properly, such as communicating with your neighbor or using a cell phone during a test will be construed as cheating. This is not an exhaustive list of the forms of cheating on written work. If you are in doubt, consult your instructor."

EGLS₃-- Evaluation for Greater Learning Student Survey System

At Houston Community College, professors believe that thoughtful student feedback is necessary to improve teaching and learning. During a designated time, you will be asked to answer a short online survey of research-based questions related to instruction. The anonymous results of the survey will be made available to your professors and division chairs for continual improvement of instruction. Look for the survey as part of the Houston Community College Student System online near the end of the term.
