What's Exciting About This Course

This introduction to the visual arts is a global investigation of artistic styles, methods of artistic production and media. Various works will be analyzed and defined in relation to the formal elements and the principles of design. Universal themes are studied within their historical, political, economic, theological, sociological, conceptual, and ethnic contexts.

Students will also develop critical thinking and observational skills through the creation of hands-on art projects.

My Personal Welcome

Welcome to Art Appreciation – I’m delighted that you have chosen this course. Why do people do what they do, and how do they make and use visual signs and symbols to communicate with others? That is our question this semester. I will present the information in the most exciting way I know, so that you can grasp the concepts and apply them now and hopefully throughout your life. As you read and wrestle with new ideas and facts that may challenge you, I am available to support you. The fastest way to reach me is by my HCC email. The best way to really discuss issues is in person and I’m available during posted office hours for any questions you might have.

My goal is for you to walk out of the course with a better understanding of yourself and how humankind uses these visual signs and symbols to communicate all sorts of ideas. So please visit me or contact me whenever you have a question.

Prerequisites and/or Co-Requisites

Course Overview

ARTS 1301 is a general introduction to the visual arts designed to create an appreciation of the vocabulary, media, techniques, and purposes of the creative process. Students will critically interpret and evaluate works of art within formal, cultural, and historical contexts (ACGM).

Core Curriculum Objectives (CCOs)

ARTS 1301 satisfies the creative arts requirement in the HCCS core curriculum. The HCCS Visual Art Program Committee has specified that the course address the following core objectives:

Critical Thinking: [HCC: to include creative thinking, innovation, inquiry and analysis, synthesis of information]

Art Appreciation is an investigation and analysis of the styles and modes of artistic production from prehistoric times to our own. Through the study of artistic media, universal themes are explored, and students will develop an appreciation for the creative process as one that represents an evolving synthesis of cultural, personal, and technological influences. Assessment of critical thinking in course work will count for no less than 10% of the final grade.

Communication Skills: [HCC: to include effective development, interpretation and expression of ideas through written, oral, and visual communication]

Art Appreciation students will learn to interpret the language of visual communication through the study of selected artworks and creation of their own hands-on art project. Students will demonstrate effective writing skills as they fulfill instructor specific writing assignments. In addition, students will develop verbal communication skills as they participate in discussions, critiques and presentations throughout the semester. Assessment of verbal and written communication in course work will count for no less than 10% of the final grade and may be combined with other core assignments.

Teamwork: [HCC: to include the ability to consider different points of view and to work effectively with others to support a shared purpose or goal]

In Art Appreciation courses we use discussions, critiques, group assignments and hands-on art projects to analyze artistic production within various cultures and time periods. This exploration of culture through art allows students to connect with a variety of viewpoints and then exchange viewpoints with others. Students will demonstrate their ability to work effectively with others in class as they safely and responsibly manage shared media, tools, equipment and clean-up duties, as applicable. Each semester students will participate in at least one collaborative assignment designed to expand their experience in developing skills essential to working effectively with others to support a shared purpose or goal. Assessment of teamwork activities and assignments will count for no less than 10% of the final grade and may be combined with other core assignments.

Social Responsibility: [HCC: to include intercultural competency, knowledge of civic responsibility,

By its very nature Art Appreciation is intercultural. As a subject it explores various historical, political, economic, theological, sociological, and ethnic contexts. Using this framework, students consider the community's responsibility in such issues as art destruction/defacement and restoration, art acquisition and public display, public funding of art and censorship.

Students observe current events and how they influence or change art history, as new discoveries may change our perception about art. Students make use of the local art community (including museums, galleries, etc.) to augment their knowledge of and participation in their community. Assessment of social responsibility activities and assignments will count for no less than 10% of the final grade and may be combined with other core assignments.

Student Success

Expect to spend at least twice as many hours per week outside of class as you do in class studying the course content. Additional time will be required for written assignments. The assignments provided will help you use your study hours wisely. Successful completion of this course requires a combination of the following:

- Reading the class materials
- Attending class in person and/or online
- Completing assignments
- Participating in class activities

There is no short cut for success in this course; it requires reading (and probably re-reading) and studying the material using the course objectives as your guide.

Instructor and Student Responsibilities

As your Instructor, it is my responsibility to:

- Provide the grading scale and detailed grading formula explaining how student grades are to be derived
- Facilitate an effective learning environment through lectures, hands-on art projects, activities, discussions and critiques
- Provide a clear description of projects or assignments
- Inform students of policies such as attendance, withdrawal, tardiness and make up work
- Provide the course outline and class calendar which will include a description of any special projects or assignments
- Arrange group work

As a student, it is your responsibility to:

- Participate in class, respect deadlines, and be prepared for each class meeting
- Use time wisely to focus on assignments, projects and exams
- Keep and organize copies of all materials, including the syllabus, articles, links and online resources
- Respect other class members
- Clean up thoroughly after each work session, when applicable
- Be prepared for critique: have complete assignments ready on time and be prepared to participate in the verbal critique process
- Be aware of and comply with academic honesty policies in the HCCS Student Handbook

Assignments, Exams, and Activities

Written Assignment

At least 2000 words in written assignment are required. Written assignments are: a Formal Elements Essay (600 words), using art terminology and art elements to analyze and study an assigned work of art (each student assigned separate art); a Museum Visit Essay (700 words), to describe a visit within the local arts community (Museum of Fine Arts, Houston), and analyzing its impact as a facility and via its collections on the visitor and on the local community (or, an alternative virtual visit); and a Group Project Report (700 words), as part of a group project and class presentation on selected art from an assigned art topic or theme—the students in the group select and present art from assigned topic in the mock roles of museum personnel: curator, exhibition designer, educator, other, and how the selected art is used and impacts their “jobs” and their responsibilities.

Additional requirements for Honors students:

Honors students will write an additional 2,000 words. They will complete a project or oral presentation that shows a higher level of analytical thinking and satisfies the requirement of the honors contract

Exams

There are four examinations, including a final examination. Examinations are non-cumulative (material does not carry over to the next examination), and we will review, in-class, prior to each examination.

Examinations will be in-person, in-class on the scheduled dates; let me know as soon as possible when you have a valid reason for missing an examination and we will attempt to schedule a make-up examination or project. Each examination will consist of equally weighted questions: multiple choice; fill in the blank; and short answers. Paper tests will be provided, and Scantron sheets are not required.

In-Class Activities

In class activities include: lectures; class break-out sessions and discussions on art and art topics; “small-group” planning and review sessions (for “Group Project”, etc.); group presentations; two class visits to Museum of Fine Arts, Houston; three examinations and final examination. You will be assigned by me to groups to keep group sizes even.

Final Exam

The final examination will be the same format as other examinations: multiple choice, fill in the blank, and short answer questions; the final examination will be 20% of the final class grade.

Syllabus Modifications

The instructor reserves the right to modify the syllabus at any time during the semester and will promptly notify students in writing, typically by e-mail, of any such changes.

Instructor's Practices and Procedures

Missed Assignments

All assignments will be provided by me well in advance of the due date, and we will review all assignments in class and in our small groups. If you have any questions or problems understanding any assignments, please communicate with me, and we will work to get you the resources we need. The instructor reserves the right to not accept any work not completed by the assigned due date. If you have academic or other reasons that are delaying your work on any assignment, please communicate with me well in advance of due dates, and we will determine if an alternate plan is possible.

Academic Integrity

Submitting work that is not your own (cheating), or using information from others without proper credit (plagiarism), is a serious abuse of the educational process. For each assignment, we will discuss how to properly credit any sources you may use, or outside help you may have. Any work that involves cheating or plagiarism submitted by a student will not be accepted for grading, and additional penalties are possible as per HCC policies.

Here's the link to the HCC information about academic integrity (Scholastic Dishonesty and Violation of Academic Scholastic Dishonesty and Grievance):

<http://www.hccs.edu/about-hcc/procedures/student-rights-policies--procedures/student-procedures/>

Attendance Procedures

You are expected to attend all lecture classes and labs regularly. You are also responsible for materials covered during your absences. Instructor may be willing to consult with you for make-up assignments, but it is your responsibility to contact the instructor. Class attendance is monitored daily. Although it is your responsibility to drop a course for nonattendance, the instructor has the authority to drop you for excessive absences. You may be dropped from a course after accumulating absences in excess of 12.5 percent of the total hours of instruction (lecture and lab). For a 3 credit-hour lecture class meeting 3 hours per week (48 hours of instruction), you can be dropped after 6 hours of absence. Administrative drops are at the discretion of the instructor. Failure to withdraw officially can result in a grade of "F" in the course.

Student Conduct

No profanity is allowed in the classroom, and we will respect the thoughts and opinion of others. This conduct is applicable during all class sessions, during "small group" breakout sessions, during our visit to the Museum of Fine Arts, Houston, and during any other class-required activity or event.

Instructor's Course-Specific Information (As Needed)

Grading for all tests and projects will be as prompt as possible by me (usually one week or less), and I will alert the class if there are any grading delays. Grades will be made available to you in class and also via Canvas (your grade will not be provided or shown to other students). Please ask me at any time if you need additional grading information, or other guidance pertaining to your grades.
